Section 2 – Introduction

Rural and tribal women invest lot of -their time in fetching water from nearby sources and it is quite hectic and tiring from them. Time spent on collecting and fetching water has a direct consequence on their productivity and thus their household income. Use of waterwheels can ease the drudgery of fetching water and also reduce the time spent for the same. Water wheels can be used by any member of the family women, children, and elderly quite easily. It allows collecting and bringing home 5 times more water than a single bucket by simply rolling the water wheel along the ground. The Waterwheel is an device widely accepted in many countries by communities where water is not available within the houses but need to be collected from a distance. It is designed for the use of women and children who are often responsible for water collection in rural communities.

Keeping this in view, Habitat for Humanity India with the financial support from Hill Spring Schools had implemented 1361 “water wheel distribution project” fo the tribal famileis living in 3 districts (Nagpur, Yevatmal of Vidharbha region & Nanded of Marathwada region) of Maharashtra. The objective of the project was to distribute 1361 water wheels to families in the selected villages in these districts.This increase the access to adequate water for each house. The project was commenced and completed in a period of 4 months (1st October to 31st January 2020).

Section 3 – Background / Context of the Project

Water is the primary life-giving resource and its availability is an essential component for socio-economic development and poverty reduction. Availability of potable water in rural areas is strongly interlinked with rural development and growth and displays direct, positive results for human health and well being, especially for women and children. As the burden of obtaining drinking water is shouldered by young girls, easy availability results in better school attendance among girl children. Women tend to benefit from the reduced drudgery and improved quality of life. As per the Department of Drinking Water Supply (DDWS), the drinking water coverage in India is about 84.2 percent but only 12 % of the population has individual household tap connections. The overall situation of India is better in drinking water coverage when compared with the sanitation coverage. However, the quality of drinking water service is poor and most users counted as having access to water receive poor quality water and only on an intermittent basis (Central Statistical Organisation, 2009). The role of water in development is recognized by including it in the Millennium Development Goals. The goal 7C of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) is to halve the proportion of the people without sustainable access to safe drinking water and basic sanitation by 2015.

In 2016, India had faced one of its worst droughts in recent memory and official estimates suggest that at least 330 million people were affected by acute shortage of water. In this scenario, fetching water is the biggest challenge in rural India as it compels the women folk to travel kilometres before they can find any. They had to spend lots of time and energy for water collection.

Habitat for Humanity India with the financial support from Hill Spring Schools, had addressed this dire need of 1361 families from Vidharbha and Marathwada Region for getting water. Habitat India has not only brought relief into the women's lives but also has achieved a paradigm shift in the villager's mindset in fetching water. The men folks also started collecting water with this water wheels. Normally in rural villages, It has been observed that fetching of water is the primary responsibility of women folks. They have to fetch water early in the morning along with their other household chores and some times even after coming back from their labor work in the evening.

Section 4 - Planned activities

The project had completed in the month of January 2020; Following are the key activities that are undertaken during the project period;

- Conducted Baseline survey: Habitat India with the support of local stakeholders had carried out a baseline survey during the month of October 2019 and November 2019 to identify the need of beneficiaries. The project had initiated 2-3 group meetings in each district to make the villagers understand about the water wheels and its use. A total of 9 meetings were coordinated by the field workers and Habitat India staff. This meetings also helped to understand the issues pertaining to water collection. The data collected through survey was uploaded in the mobile based application

- The aim of conducting these community meetings was to discuss and water issues, the challenges they face while fetching water, and the importance of water wheel as an alternate easy means for water collection..

The criteria for the selection of the beneficiaries were;

- Preference were given to areas where water crisis is more
 - Preference to single women families/ Widow/ Elderly family who face problem in fetching water and to the families who do not have their own pipeline facility/well/ Bore-well
 - Families who used to travel minimum of 2 km to 3 kms for collection of water
- Water Wheel handover event: On January 20th 2020 Water Wheel distribution program was conducted at Bhagimari Village of Parsheoni Block of Nagpur District in Maharashtra. The Chief Guest for this event is Mr. Bambal Taluka Agriculture Officer Parshivni. During the program they had discussed with few of the beneficiaries on the current water crisis. Thereafter the distribution event started with a welcome speech and introduction by Taluka Agriculture Officer followed by project briefing and distribution of water wheels.

- Two village women had shared their struggles and experience in fetching water. In the event distributed 561 water wheels covering 10 villages,

Similarly events were conducted in other 2 district and the details of distributions are given in the below table.

- Men and teenager boys of 1361 families are now feeling encouraged for collecting water using water wheel reducing the burden of women in the family.

Section 6 - Stakeholders engagement

The major focus of this project was to support the women folk in the village who are engaged more into fetching water. For the successful implementation of the project the partner approached the local community leaders and panchayat members for the selection of villages and identification of beneficiaries.

Section 7 - Lessons learnt

- The entire family members irrespective of gender are now participating in collecting water with water wheel as it is easy to carry water by rolling it.
- The beneficiaries are very happy and because they can use the water wheel as a storage vessel due to its unique cap-in-cap design.
- Previously the women do not go for fetching water in the dark and they have to wait for the morning. Now there is no time constrain as male members when ever they found these water wheels empty they go for collecting water.
